Conyers, GA (PRWEB) April 18, 2009 -- Atlanta Cutlery Corp. (ACC) & Museum Replicas Ltd, (MRL) announced today that they have entered into a multi-year license agreement with Studio Canal SA for a replica of the iconic jacket that the T-800 cyborg wears in the now-classic film, The Terminator and will be co-introduced under the Windlass Studios brand name.

It's 1984, James Cameron gets the idea of a "terminator", a seemingly unstoppable cyborg assassin. The Terminator gets sent back from the year 2029 by a race of artificially intelligent computer-controlled machines, whose aim is the extermination of the human race. The Terminator's mission is to kill Sarah Connor, whose future son will lead the human's resistance against the machines.

The Terminator instantly became a cult classic and this movie has spawned an entire generation of sci-fi films and subsequent sequels. To celebrate the 25th anniversary of this landmark motion picture, Museum Replicas presents a prop never attempted before - a screen accurate version of the T-800's motorcycle jacket. This limited Edition jacket has had nothing spared in its research and materials. Using all original surviving resource material, it has been re-created exactly as it was worn on screen.

The jacket features police grade leather with zip-out cold weather, custom printed lining and sew-in label celebrating the 25th anniversary. It also incorporates all the safety features of today's motorcycle jackets, to ensure realism and protection, if you want to wear it when you ride. Remember to look over your shoulder, because he'll be back...

The jacket is available for preorder now with a tentative shipping date of June 2009
